Offering the industry's widest range of samples under one roof, Kevin Glancy and Jonathan Fawcett showcase individual pieces to entire themes from their headquarters. To experience their personal service first-hand, they welcome visits to their private showroom, where their project managers and team carefully prepare and reflect any chosen theme, inviting clients to put the finishing touches to their interior design in one easy visit.

Alternatively, they travel and conduct meetings with owners, designers and representatives regardless of where they are based globally, both on land and sea.

Kevin Glancy & Jonathan Fawcett are in their second year as a supporting member to the ISS. Their involvement and affiliation greater strengthens their offering and the way they work. It is important for the companies to align themselves with an internationally recognised organisation which shares their values, especially when it comes to excellence. The commitment to the yachting industry continues to grow and evolve and they look forward to a lasting affiliation.
