

YachtInfo@FLIBS 2016

Expanding on last year's very successful early morning YachtInfo format at FLIBS, ISS's Education Committee has again lined up a four-day series of one-hour panels on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday morning.

Kicking off just before the show opens each morning at 0800, each session will be run for an hour from 8:30, giving everyone plenty of time to get to their places in the show when it opens at 10:00.

All YachtInfo seminars are being held in the CruiserPort seminar tent on B Dock, Bahia Mar Yachting Center.

This year's topics range from exciting destinations of interest to everyone to subjects that should make crew jobs just that little bit easier.

The first panel on Thursday morning will focus on the timeless but essential topic of leadership led by Paul Ferdais of the Marine Leadership Group.

Friday's panel takes a look at new destinations in the Pacific and Indian Ocean led by Christelle Holler of Tahiti Private Expeditions.

Last year Cuba was the big topic in Fort Lauderdale as exciting new opportunities for the superyacht industry seemed to be opening up. On Saturday this year, as an update, captains who have actually been to Cuba will bring us up-to-date; the session is being led by Paul Madden of Paul Madden Associates.

YachtInfo@FLIBS 2016 winds up on Sunday morning with a seminar devoted to interior maintenance training for interior crew led by Richard Perkins of Interior Technology Services.
